

Playing Level Guidelines and policies

Sandbagging is playing a level lower than your skills call for. The goal is usually for ego or an attempt to win prizes you don't deserve. It is not tolerated at The Rumble! Every year we find sandbagging players and move them to the correct division.

Guidelines:

Play to the level of the best player on your team. If you are an A player and your partner is a AA player, you should register and play AA.

If you play in the Pro or Open division, you must play at least AA on other days, regardless of your partner(s) level.

If you win a division on Friday or Saturday, you must move up a division if playing again that weekend. We will help you with this.

Age guidelines for Masters and Juniors. At June 25th both teammates must be in the same age bracket to qualify for that division.

If you have any questions about the level your team should play, please send a message through the website or Facebook page.*
